Comet Galaxy Tech Tip

“Be a Positive Role Model in Your Online Life”

Take a moment to reflect on your own online habits. How much time do you spend online, particularly on your mobile devices? Consider the precious moments that may be slipping away while scrolling through social media.

Could some of that time be better spent offline, engaging in enjoyable activities with your children?

Family dinners are a great time to connect and have meaningful conversations. Here are some ideas to engage at the dinner table without electronics.

Question of the day: Each family member takes turns asking a question. Questions can range from “What is/was your favorite toy?” to “If you could travel anywhere, where would you go?”

Share highs and Lows: Everyone share the best part and the most challenging part of their day.

Themed dinners: Choose a theme for dinner, such as “favorite vacation memories” or “dream jobs,” and discuss related topics during the dinner.

Life Skill Focus

Patience

Children have a hard time understanding the need to have patience, no one likes to wait, even adults.

Developing strategies for waiting and modeling the behavior will help build patience in children.

Children need to learn how to be patient. It is important to have patience; it is a life skill they will use in school and in life.

Comet Run

Make sure you are getting donations for our Comet Run! We are off to a great start!

Book Fair

Book Fair is open Tuesday through Friday next week. Send money in with your child to pick out a new read!

WIN

What I Need (WIN) is offered each morning for extra practice in math and reading from 7:20-7:50 for all students. If you carpool, arrive early to participate!
