PARK SPOTLIGHT

FRANA BROWN PARK

Frana Brown Park is a small but historically significant public space located on the corner of Main Street and Morningside Drive in the heart of Historic Downtown Acworth. Named after a former City Clerk, the park covers about a quarter acre and features a botanical fountain, benches, and green space for relaxation. Its most notable historical element is the original bell from the Acworth Methodist Episcopal Church South, which once stood on the site. This church congregation at this site was established in 1905, making the bell a tangible link to early 20th-century Acworth's religious and community life.
